

To Kill a Mockingbird Multi-Genre Project

Point Total = 100 points

This project invites you to represent your knowledge and experience of To Kill a Mockingbird by writing in multiple, creative genres: letters, interviews, character sketches, poetry, diary entries, speeches, newspaper articles, collage, personal narratives, cartoons, recipes, personal narrative, etc (see below for larger list and descriptions of genres). The point of a multi-genre project is to represent your understanding of the novel - its characters, themes, conflicts, major events, significance in the world, etc. – in ways that are creative, fun, and meaningful to you.

There are THREE components to the point total of this project, all of which count as “Tests/Quizzes” in JupiterGrades.

Project Plan: 10 points

Outline the list of genres you plan to do for your project and take a couple of notes on how you plan to complete each. This typed or hand-written plan is the first required element and is due on Friday, 3/27.

Presentation: 15 pts

On the day the project is due, you will present two of the genres you have completed for this project. Presentations must be between two and three minutes long; this time limit will be strictly enforced. When you present, you will give us an introduction to each of the two genres you’re highlighting, show, read, or paraphrase them for the class, and state why you chose to do these two genres in your project.

Project: 75 points

You will do a minimum of 5 genres for this project (3 “big” ones and 2 “small” ones). All genres involving writing excepting those marked with an asterisk) should be typed and edited. Other genres (art, slideshow or video, etc.) will obviously take on different forms. Your project must be submitted as a packet, ideally secured in a folder or some kind of project protector.

You must also include: An interesting cover/title page with your name, class, and date; a table of contents page; a ¾ - 1-page typed, double-spaced “Discoveries” page that reflects on your experience of composing your genres. For this, you will explain what you think your two or three strongest or favorite genres are and why. Most importantly, you will reflect upon how composing this project affected or enhanced your experience of the novel. What have you discovered that you didn’t see or think about before? This accounts for 10 of the 75 points possible.

Here is a list of possible genres you may choose from. You are welcome to come up with a genre idea that is not here, but you will need to consult with me first to decide which category it would go under.

“Big” Genres (approx. 1 ¾ - 2 pages each) - MUST CHOOSE THREE (15 pts each)

- Stage an interview with the author in which she explains the part that was the most fun or the most difficult to write OR with a major character and have him/her reflect on specific events in the story.
- Write a review of the novel where you try to convince someone to read it (book critic review)
- Write a different ending to the story (consistent with Harper Lee’s style)
- *Write several, dated diary entries from the perspective of one of the major characters (minimum 3)
- Write 2 newspaper articles published at the time of a major event of the novel
- Write a letter to the author
- Find three songs that relate to themes, events, or characters in the book. Write/print a copy of the lyrics, and then write an explanation of how each one relates to the memoir

- Write a letter to the editor of a newspaper (editorial) expressing your feelings about a current social issue that relates to issues in TKAM and connect to lessons society can learn from the novel. (Consider themes of racism or prejudice, social hierarchy, education, inequality, treatment of children, etc.)
- Create a maximum 2 minute visual montage or a minimum 10 slide powerpoint/slideshow that captures and elaborates on important themes, feelings, and/or events of the text. Upload to YouTube or create on Google Slideshow. It will be necessary for you and I to test this on my computer before final due date.

“Small” Genres (approx. ¾ - 1 page each) - MUST CHOOSE TWO (10 pts)

- *Write any kind of poem about the novel
- Write an obituary for one of the characters
- Explain why you would like to have one of the characters as a friend.
- Describe an experience you have had that is like an experience of one of the characters in the novel.
- Explain how a character in the novel changed from the beginning to the end.
- Explain how you would make the novel into a movie. How would you cast it and why? Where would you film it and why? What would be important to include and what would be important to change? Why?

Of your two “small” genres, you may choose ONE of the following:

- Draw a specific, colored, labeled map of where the story takes place (the Maycomb neighborhood, identifying where major characters live and where important things take place)
- Do a collage or piece of artwork that illustrates a major theme or idea of the book (i.e. racism, moral education, courage, commitment, etc.)
- Create a color illustration of 3 major events from the book and include an explanation/description of each
- Create a cartoon strip or parody of some aspect of injustice in the novel: scapegoating of Tom Robinson, ignorance of townspeople, Ewells thinking they’re better than Robinsons, etc.
- *Write a creative “recipe,” including at least 5 ingredients, with measurements and cooking instructions. For example, a recipe for racism or prejudice, a lynching, loss of innocence, ignorance, courage, etc.

**These pieces may be handwritten.*

Things to Think About:

- There is no formal essay for this assignment, so MLA format isn’t required, though you should use it for “Discoveries” page.
- You are to type your written work to make sure that it’s legible, that you’ve taken the time to edit and finalize it, and that it’s authentic for that genre. If you think a genre would be more appropriate handwritten, you will need to clear it with me first and make it neat – points will be deducted for illegible handwriting.
- If you have an idea for a genre that isn’t listed here or an alternative way to approach a combination of genres, please discuss it with me. I’m very open to new, worthwhile, creative ideas!
